I'm a family tradition!

From our foundry to your kitchen

For over 125 years, Lodge has been trusted to make the cookware folks are proud to bring to their table. We stand by the timelessness and versatility of the cast iron skillets that gave us a name in kitchens around the world, but we never stop looking for ways to reimagine our cookware for the next generation. Over the years, we've paved the way for manufacturing advancements that are now industry standards—successes that were only made possible by a legacy of always aiming to do right by our roots.

As we look toward the future, our dedication to American manufacturing and our innovative spirit continues to guide every decision we make. In 2023, we finally achieved a big dream of being the only company to make colorful enameled cast iron in the USA today. We now proudly offer our history-making collection of USA Enamel™ alongside our much-loved, imported Essential Enamel, making great performing cookware available to everyone.

When we dream of new and exciting ways to show folks the joy of cast iron cooking, we often take notes from the stories and cultures that inspire us. That has led us to work with Southern legend Dolly Parton to create special cast iron pieces that celebrate her legacy as a country music star and philanthropist. And because we know people who love Lodge, love great-tasting food, we also partnered with Old World Spice to develop a collection of pantry items that are made for high-heat cast iron cooking. Inspired by our love for big, bold Southern flavor, our Skillet Cornbread Mixes and Sear Blends bring stop-you-in-your-tracks sizzle to any table.

While our campus looks a lot different than it did when Joseph Lodge founded the company in 1896, the values that have helped us flourish remain unchanged. No matter where the next 125 years take us, we're dedicated to staying true to our roots as we create the cookware that brings people together in the kitchen, by the grill, and around campfires—all over the world.

Celebrate Day of the Dead!

Día de los Muertos is a beloved holiday across Mexico and the world. We worked with Mexico City-based artist Lourdes Villagómez to design a collection of cast iron pieces that bring the traditions of the holiday to kitchens everywhere.

"Sharing my culture in my art allows me to preserve and pass down the stories, rituals, and symbolism that have been cherished for generations. It serves as a tribute to the wisdom of our ancestors and keeps their memory alive."

- Lourdes Villagomez

What's a naturally nonstick cooking surface?

Our cast iron cookware comes pre-seasoned for a nonstick cooking surface that's ready to use, straight from the box. We manufacture each piece of cast iron in our South Pittsburg foundry with a simple recipe of just iron and oil. All of our seasoned cast iron pieces are naturally nontoxic and made without PFOAs and PTFEs, making them a safe choice in the kitchen.

Keep it natural.

Every year, we collect data on our environmental impact and look for more ways to do right by our planet.

A longstanding commitment to hazardous waste reduction

In 1991, we replaced our cupola melting system with a more environmentally friendly induction melt system. We received the 1994 Governor's Award for Excellence in Hazardous Waste Reduction and remain a Zero Hazardous Waste Foundry to this day.

Green Business of the Month

In 2023, we became a member of Green | Spaces, a regional nonprofit which provides a framework for businesses to develop and create more sustainable practices. In addition to sponsoring Green | Spaces' World Heavyweight Chili Championship fundraiser, we were also featured as a Green Business of the Month for our dedication to reducing our environmental footprint.

Packaging waste reduction

During 2023, we also decided to reimagine our packaging using nearly 50% less material for labels and reducing unnecessary waste. This change will reduce unnecessary waste by cutting our label materials nearly in half.

Tennessee Green Star Partnership

Facilitated by the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation, the partnership recognizes industries committed to sustainability while exhibiting continuous improvement

What's the difference between seasoned carbon steel and seasoned cast iron?

Unlike cast iron, which is cast in sand molds, our seasoned carbon steel pieces are formed through a spinning and stamping process that allows us to make them lighter and thinner than cast iron. Both cast iron and carbon steel are seasoned at our South Pittsburg foundry with 100% natural vegetable oil.

Heat-Treated Tableware

Dishwasher-safe cast iron, coming right up!

This line of heat-treated cast iron tableware is durable enough for food service use.

That's because it undergoes a special, patented process that heats the iron to high temperature, changing its molecular structure to protect it from rust. That's just a scientific way to say: permission to put cast iron in a commercial dishwasher.

Plate sides and desserts in style.

Don't sweat over rusty cast iron.

Make and serve memories that last.

Eighty-six on rust!

I'm commercial dishwasher safe!

How it's made

In 2013, Lodge debuted a line of seasoned cast iron cookware that undergoes a special heat-treating process to make it rust-resistant and dishwasher-safe. The process is not a coating, but a way of heating cast iron in a controlled environment that diminishes its capacity to rust. In internal tests, these pieces have survived hundreds of cycles in a commercial dishwasher without showing any signs of rust!

"What we love about Lodge is that it's not too pricey, but performs exquisitely and offers a few smart details—like pour spouts on either side of the pan and a helper handle. Plus, the pans arrive pre-seasoned which is great for cast iron beginners."

Use & Care

Seasoned Cast Iron & Seasoned Steel

Let's cook.

Lodge seasons cast iron in the foundry, making it easy to care for and ready to use. Cook over any heat source, including glass-top stoves and induction. The durable cast iron can handle any type of utensil—even metal. While your piece is new, be careful with alkaline and acidic foods and feel free to drizzle a little extra oil in your pan the first few uses before adding food. This will boost your pan's seasoning for all your cooking adventures.

Use it, then clean it.

After each meal, hand wash your cookware, dry promptly with a lint-free cloth or paper towel, and apply a thin layer of cooking oil to the entire surface. Voila! In three steps you've cared for your cookware so it's ready for your next meal.

Do you have a grill pan? Our grill pan scrapers have "teeth" designed to fit any modern Lodge grill pan. They can get into the grill ridges to help with cleanup duty.
Did you purchase a cast iron lid for your cookware? All iron lids should be cared for the same as cast iron cookware. To store: Place a paper towel between the lid and cookware to prevent moisture build-up.

Here's how to care for your glass lids: Lodge glass lids are oven safe up to 400° F. They can go in the dishwasher, but not the microwave.

Great food makes great seasoning.

Cast iron seasoning is a lifelong relationship and there are some ingredients that make the relationship even stronger. Cook bacon, sauté hamburger, and oven roast your favorite veggies to build up the seasoning in your pan.

Did you know? Lodge has been producing quality cast iron at its South Pittsburg, Tennessee, foundries since 1896.

Still have questions? Here are some common cast iron FAQs

What is seasoning?

Cast iron seasoning is simply oil baked onto the iron. At Lodge, we start the process for you, by adding a layer of soy-based vegetable oil to the cookware and baking it on at a high temperature. That means Lodge cast iron cookware is ready to use right out of the box for a natural, easy-release finish that gets better over time. When it comes to seasoning at home, there are many different oils you can use. You can view a comprehensive list at www.lodgecastiron.com.

Enameled Cast Iron

Get to know your new Lodge enameled cast iron cookware.

Ask anyone who works at Lodge and we'll tell you, an enamel dutch oven is a must-have for your kitchen. Its generous capacity allows you to cook for a crowd and bake delicious, crusty bread. Use this original kitchen multitasker to deliver a wide array of meals with just one piece of cookware. Are you ready to get started?

Let's cook.

The smooth surface on Lodge's enameled cast iron cookware is durable and won't react to ingredients, so you can not only cook but marinate and refrigerate food. It's also resistant against acidic and alkaline ingredients, so bring on the tomato sauce! Use on all kitchen stovetops—even glass-top stoves—and in the oven up to 500° F. Gradually preheat with oil on a similar-sized burner for even heating. Once it's preheated, add your food! Use wooden, silicone, or nylon utensils. Metal can scratch the enamel finish.

Use it, then clean it.

After each meal, let your enameled cast iron cool before you hand wash with warm soapy water and a sponge or nylon brush (like our Lodge Scrub Brush). Use a pan scraper if needed for any stuck-on food. Then dry promptly, replace the pot protectors, and store in a cool, dry place. That's all it takes to care for this cookware! Although it's technically dishwasher safe, hand washing will preserve the finish of the enamel cookware.

Great food makes great moments.

Cooking in enameled cast iron cookware is an unforgettable experience. Once you get started, your Lodge enamel cookware will be what you grab from the cupboard for every idea and every slow-cooked craving.

Where is Lodge's enameled cast iron made?

As an American manufacturer for more than 125 years, it's always been our goal to make products in the USA whenever possible. When we decided to make enameled cast iron cookware, we searched extensively for a manufacturer who would enamel bright colors in the United States. After exhausting efforts to find one, Lodge had to search overseas for a partner that could meet our quality standards. We found those partners in China and Vietnam, and have worked directly and constantly with them ever since to deliver high-quality enamel cookware. We work with third-party inspection teams to ensure that quality is up to Lodge standards, and that all partner companies comply with all applicable employment laws and regulations.

Can I soak my cast iron cookware?

Soaking cast iron in water is a recipe for rust. If you need to remove sticky or stubborn stuck-on food, use a scrub brush or a pan scraper and rinse under warm water. Be sure to thoroughly dry and oil your pan.

Note: If you do accidentally leave your pan in water for too long and it develops rust, don't panic! With a little extra care, you can remove the rust and continue using your cast iron cookware.

Can I put my cast iron cookware in the dishwasher?

No, our cast iron cookware should be washed by hand. A dishwasher will remove the seasoning and likely cause rust.

How do I remove rust from my cookware?

For a small amount of spot rust:

Wash your cookware with warm soapy water and a scrub brush, dry promptly with a lint-free cloth or paper towel, and rub with oil. If that doesn't work, use the Lodge Rust Eraser first, followed by the above cleaning steps.

For a large amount of rust:

1. Scour the surface with warm, soapy water and a metal scouring pad. It's okay to use the scouring pad and soap since you are preparing to re-season the cookware. Rinse and hand dry thoroughly.
2. Apply a very thin, even layer of cooking oil to the cookware (inside and out). Keep in mind if you use too much oil, your cookware may become sticky.
3. Place the cookware in the oven upside down on the top rack and place aluminum foil on the bottom rack to catch any excess oil. Bake at 450-500° F for one hour. Allow to cool and repeat as necessary to achieve the classic black patina.

We are proud of our enamel products and stand behind them like we do our traditional cast iron. The profits from our enamel sales go to support the more than 500 employees who work at our American company.

How do I remove baked-on food from my enamel cookware?

To remove stubborn baked-on food, boil 2 cups of water and 4 tablespoons of baking soda. Boil for a few minutes, then use a pan scraper to loosen the food. This method of cleaning is recommended only for enamel cookware that's intended for stovetop use.

Why did food leave stains in my cookware?

A small amount of staining is to be expected with enameled cast iron cookware and does not affect performance.

To remove slight stains:

Clean your enamel cookware then rub with a dampened cloth and Lodge Enamel Cleaner or another ceramic cleaner according to directions on the bottle.

For persistent stains:

Follow the steps above to clean and remove slight stains. Next, soak the interior of the cookware for 2-3 hours with a mixture of 3 tablespoons of household bleach per quart of water.

What do I do if I see rust on the rim of my enamel cookware?

If rust develops around the rim, wipe a small amount of oil around the rim to create a seal and prevent rust from reappearing.

Help! The knob on my enamel cookware is loose.

Simply tighten the screw attaching the knob. Be gentle, it's glass!
