For over 125 years, Lodge Cast Iron has been making heirloom-quality cookware in South Pittsburg, Tennessee. From humble beginnings as a manufacturer of machine parts and household goods, Lodge has transformed into a thriving international business.

After an expansion to meet soaring customer demand, Lodge now has two operational foundries and a new distribution center located on Tennessee soil. With this increase in production and shipping capacity, Lodge is poised to help customers make memories that last for generations.

A Look Back on 126 Years

In 1896, at the corner of Cedar Avenue and First Street in South Pittsburg, Tennessee, a former railroad foundry was given a new start. The once-dormant facility transformed into a booming scene of production, known as The Blacklock Foundry. After fourteen years of prosperity, Blacklock caught fire and burned to the ground. But Joseph Lodge and his family weren't going to give up. Blacklock rose again to become the company we recognize today: Lodge Cast Iron.

And that was just the beginning.

The resourcefulness from those early days of business can be spotted all throughout Lodge's storied history. From reinvestment in the company to innovative manufacturing approaches during economic downturns like the Great Depression, Lodge's goal has always been to keep local workers employed and keep the business's doors open. Today, it's the only cast iron cookware foundry from its era still operating in the United States.

Over the years, Lodge has transformed into a global business, offering a full product catalog to meet the needs of consumers. Their products are not only made to stand the test of time, but to innovate and advance the existing cast iron cookware market. Lodge was the first to introduce foundry seasoning to the market in 2002, changing the perception of cast iron from complicated to approachable and easy to use. In 2019, Lodge launched Blacklock, a revolutionary line of triple-seasoned™ and lightweight cookware that celebrates the company's roots and looks toward the future of cast iron manufacturing. Lodge is constantly finding new ways to innovate, including with the continued development of the industry's first full line of American-made cast iron bakeware and the expansion of outdoor cooking offerings for the grill and campfire.

While operations today look very different than they did in 1896, Lodge's core values—like a commitment to quality, the dedication to a local American workforce, and the act of reinvesting in the small-town community it calls home—have remained unchanged. Lodge believes that these values comprise the necessary foundation to flourish for another century-plus of creating heirloom-quality cast iron cookware for kitchens, campfires, and tables around the world.

• CAST IRON •

Made in Tennessee
SINCE 1896

With our seasoned cast iron bakeware collection it's easy to make homemade baked goods and casseroles that rival your favorite bakery and restaurants.

Each piece of our cast iron bakeware features a design that is easy to grip, lift, and move about the kitchen. Made in America with iron and oil, Lodge bakeware won't dent, bend, or warp, so you can have generations of baking fun.

Taste the natural difference of just iron and oil.

Keep me in the family and out of the landfill.

Get 125 years of experience at your fingertips.

Pass me along to the next generation!

SINCE 1896

WANTED: Adventure-seeker who loves to cook over an open fire.

These naturally seasoned cooking surfaces make camp and hearth cooking a breeze. Crafted in America with iron and oil, each piece of outdoor and camp cookware is ready to help you bring dishes to life under blue skies, under the stars, next to winding rivers, and tucked beside towering mountains.

Taste the natural difference of just iron and oil.

Keep me in the family and out of the landfill.

Get 125 years of experience at your fingertips.

Heat-Treated Tableware

Have you ever wanted to put cast iron in the dishwasher? Now you can!

This line of heat-treated cast iron has undergone a patented heat-treating process that protects the iron from rust.

The iron is heated in a special oven at high temperatures, changing the molecular structure of the iron. When the heat treatment is added to the seasoning process, you experience durable protection for food service and an easy-release finish.

Taste the natural difference of just iron and oil.

Keep me in the family and out of the landfill.

Get 125 years of experience at your fingertips.

How It's Made

In 2013, Lodge debuted a line of seasoned cast iron cookware that undergoes a special heat-treating process to make it rust-resistant and dishwasher-safe. The process is not a coating, but a way of heating cast iron in a controlled environment that diminishes its capacity to rust. In internal tests, these pieces have survived hundreds of cycles in a commercial dishwasher without showing any signs of rust!

Serveware & Underliners

Add a special flair to any party presentation with cast iron serveware that's also great at holding heat.

The commercial wood underliners protect surfaces and allow you to serve to table with ease. Plus, each piece of cold forest hardwood absorbs stain in different ways, making each underliner unique. Crafted in America with iron and oil, Lodge cast iron serveware has a naturally seasoned cooking surface that's ready to help you make moments delicious.

Taste the natural difference of just iron and oil.

Take single-serve meals to the next level.

Get 125 years of experience at your fingertips.

Use & Care

Seasoned Cast Iron & Seasoned Steel

Let's cook.

Lodge seasoned this piece in the foundry, making it easy to care for and ready to use. Cook over any heat source, including glass-top stoves and induction. The durable cast iron can handle any type of utensil—even metal. While your piece is new, be careful with alkaline and acidic foods and feel free to drizzle a little extra oil in your pan the first few uses before adding food. This will boost your pan's seasoning for all your cooking adventures.

Use it, then clean it.

After each meal, hand wash your cookware, dry promptly with a lint-free cloth or paper towel, and apply a thin layer of cooking oil to the entire surface. Voila! In three steps you've cared for your cookware so it's ready for your next meal.

Do you have a grill pan? Our grill pan scrapers have "teeth" designed to fit any modern Lodge grill pan. They can get into the grill ridges to help with cleanup duty.

Did you purchase a cast iron lid for your cookware? All iron lids should be cared for the same as cast iron cookware. To store: Place a paper towel between the lid and cookware to prevent moisture build-up.

Here's how to care for your glass lids: Lodge glass lids are oven safe up to 400° F. They can go in the dishwasher, but not the microwave.

Great food makes great seasoning.

Cast iron seasoning is a lifelong relationship and there are some ingredients that make the relationship even stronger. Cook bacon, sauté hamburger, and oven roast your favorite veggies to build up the seasoning in your pan.

Did you know? Lodge has been producing quality cast iron at its South Pittsburg, Tennessee, foundries since 1896.

Still have questions? Here are some common cast iron FAQs

What is seasoning?

Cast iron seasoning is simply oil baked onto the iron. At Lodge, we start the process for you, by adding a layer of soy-based vegetable oil to the cookware and baking it on at a high temperature. That means Lodge cast iron cookware is ready to use right out of the box for a natural, easy-release finish that gets better over time.

When it comes to seasoning at home, there are many different oils you can use. You can view a comprehensive list at www.lodgecastiron.com.

Enamel

Get to know your new Lodge enamel cookware.

Ask anyone who works at Lodge and we'll tell you, an enamel dutch oven is a must-have for your kitchen. Its generous capacity allows you to cook for a crowd and bake delicious, crusty bread. Use this original kitchen multitasker to deliver a wide array of meals with just one piece of cookware. Are you ready to get started?

Let's cook.

The smooth glass surface on Lodge's enameled cast iron cookware is durable and won't react to ingredients, so you can not only cook but marinate and refrigerate food. It's also resistant against acidic and alkaline ingredients, so bring on the tomato sauce! Use on all kitchen stovetops—even glass-top stoves—and in the oven up to 500° F. Gradually preheat with oil on a similar-sized burner for even heating. Once it's preheated, add your food! Use wooden, silicone, or nylon utensils. Metal can scratch the enamel finish.

Use it, then clean it.

After each meal, let your enameled cast iron cool before you hand wash with warm soapy water and a sponge or nylon brush (like our Lodge Scrub Brush). Use a pan scraper if needed for any stuck-on food. Then dry promptly, replace the pot protectors, and store in a cool, dry place. That's all it takes to care for this cookware! Although it's technically dishwasher safe, hand washing will preserve the finish of the enamel cookware.

Great food makes great moments.

Cooking in enameled cast iron cookware is an unforgettable experience. Once you get started, your Lodge enamel cookware will be what you grab from the cupboard for every idea and every slow-cooked craving.

Where is Lodge's enameled cast iron made?

As an American manufacturer for more than 120 years, it's always been our goal to make products in the USA whenever possible. When we decided to make enameled cast iron cookware, we searched extensively for a manufacturer who would enamel bright colors in the United States. After exhausting efforts to find one, Lodge had to search overseas for a partner that could meet our quality standards. We found those partners in China and have worked directly and constantly with them ever since to deliver high-quality enamel cookware. We work with third-party inspection teams to ensure that quality is up to Lodge standards, and that all partner companies comply with all applicable employment laws and regulations.

Can I soak my cast iron cookware?

Soaking cast iron in water is a recipe for rust. If you need to remove sticky or stubborn stuck-on food, use a scrub brush or a pan scraper and rinse under warm water. Be sure to thoroughly dry and oil your pan.

Note: If you do accidentally leave your pan in water for too long and it develops rust, don't panic! With a little extra care, you can remove the rust and continue using your cast iron cookware.

Can I put my cast iron cookware in the dishwasher?

No, our cast iron cookware should be washed by hand. A dishwasher will remove the seasoning and likely cause rust.

How do I remove rust from my cookware?

For a small amount of spot rust:

Wash your cookware with warm soapy water and a scrub brush, dry promptly with a lint-free cloth or paper towel, and rub with oil. If that doesn't work, use the Lodge Rust Eraser first, followed by the above cleaning steps.

For a large amount of rust:

1. Scour the surface with warm, soapy water and a metal scouring pad. It's okay to use the scouring pad and soap since you are preparing to re-season the cookware. Rinse and hand dry thoroughly.
2. Apply a very thin, even layer of cooking oil to the cookware (inside and out). Keep in mind if you use too much oil, your cookware may become sticky.
3. Place the cookware in the oven upside down on the top rack and place aluminum foil on the bottom rack to catch any excess oil. Bake at 450-500° F for one hour. Allow to cool and repeat as necessary to achieve the classic black patina.

For more information about seasoning, visit www.lodgecastiron.com/all-about-seasoning.

We are proud of our enamel products and stand behind them like we do our traditional cast iron. The profits from our enamel sales go to support the more than 500 employees who work at our American company.

How do I remove baked-on food from my enamel cookware?

To remove stubborn baked-on food, boil 2 cups of water and 4 tablespoons of baking soda. Boil for a few minutes, then use a pan scraper to loosen the food. This method of cleaning is recommended only for enamel cookware that's intended for stovetop use.

Why did food leave stains in my cookware?

A small amount of staining is to be expected with enameled cast iron cookware and does not affect performance.

To remove slight stains:

Clean your enamel cookware then rub with a dampened cloth and Lodge Enamel Cleaner or another ceramic cleaner according to directions on the bottle.

For persistent stains:

Follow the steps above to clean and remove slight stains. Next, soak the interior of the cookware for 2-3 hours with a mixture of 3 tablespoons of household bleach per quart of water.

What do I do if I see rust on the rim of my enamel cookware?

If rust develops around the rim, wipe a small amount of oil around the rim to create a seal and prevent rust from reappearing.

Help! The knob on my enamel cookware is loose.

Simply tighten the screw attaching the knob. Be gentle, it's glass!

"It's hard not to feel a sense of pride walking into work. The people here work hard, have tremendous respect for what they do, and know at the end of the day that they're making cookware that will last generations. Lodge's process is a simple one. It's just iron and oil. The real secret is the people who work tirelessly every day to provide high-quality products at an honest price. I'm proud of the work that we do at Lodge Cast Iron, but most of all, I'm proud to call these folks my co-workers and friends."

Kris Stubblefield
CHEF

"My favorite part of working at Lodge is the sense of family and pride shared among employees and our entire cast iron community. Our customers are a part of that family, too. They create incredible dishes and pass on their cooking secrets and cast iron tips. We strive to make our Lodge family proud — delivering the best product, experience, recipe, or service we can. It feels less like work, because we know we're building heirloom-quality pieces for generations to come. Working here, we learn together, grow together, and celebrate together. And best of all, we create products we're proud to put the Lodge name on."

Mandy Finotti
E-COMMERCE MANAGER

"Lodge is recognized as No. 1 in the world at what they do. To be just a small part of that is truly amazing. But it's not just the products we make. It's how we do it and, most importantly, the people who do it. From the CEO to the new hire, everyone is treated with the same level of respect. When you have that at a company, it is easy to take pride in where you work."

Sean Dunwoody
DC UTILITY

"I grew up in South Pittsburg, Tennessee, and I can't imagine feeling more connected to a company than the way I feel about Lodge. It's a Social Media Manager's dream — to feel that passionate about the brand they work for. I'm proud every time I endorse a cast iron skillet to a customer because I know the products we craft are incredible and that they make meals that are truly unmatched."
